Owensboro Health Regional Hospital: Best Project of 2013
ENR Midwest awards Owensboro top Health Care Project of 2013

NASHVILLE, TN – November 25, 2013 - Smith Seckman Reid, Inc (SSR), a Nashville based engineering design and facilities consulting firm is excited to announce that Owensboro Health Regional Hospital has been awarded top honors in the Health Care category in ENR Midwest's Best Projects of 2013 competition.

Owensboro Health opened their new replacement facility on June 1st in Owensboro, Kentucky. The nine story facility cost $385 million and includes state-of-the-art medical equipment and patient rooms designed to improve patient care and comfort. SSR provided mechanical, electrical, plumbing, and technology services on the project.

ENR Midwest's Best Projects competition is an annual program recognizing outstanding design and construction in a variety of categories. Winning projects are selected by a panel of judges on the basis of design and construction quality, innovation, safety, and the ability of their project teams to overcome unique challenges.
